

This month's Newsletter is the story of the Wreck of the Black Squall. This two-masted sailing vessel was carrying an exotic cargo when it struck the breakers at Ocracoke in April of 1861. To learn what washed ashore when the ship broke apart more than 150 years ago watch this seven minute video of Philip Howard, owner of Village Craftsmen, telling the fascinating tale of the Wreck of the Black Squall: